A STRATEGY TO ADDRESS ILLEGAL IMMIGRATION IN THE UNITED STATES
The American Legion is opposed to any person or persons being in this country illegally, regardless of race, sex, creed, color or national origin. We believe the current laws governing immigration should be enforced impartially and equally.
This booklet is not intended to be a technical manual or an extensive compendium on the many aspects of illegal immigration. The items brought out in this brief review reflect, in the opinion of The American Legion, the more recurring concerns raised in debate on the issues of illegal immigration, whether the debate be within the halls of Congress or among the American people.
INTRODUCTION

The American Legion members have served in the U.S. Armed Forces throughout the world so that Americans can be safe at home. They know Third World countries. They have seen poverty, political instability, disease and war. The sacrifices they have made give them a perspective on national security issues that many Americans do not have. Today, they see the threat that open borders present to their homeland.

Legionnaires subscribe to a creed, “To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order, and to foster and perpetuate 100 percent Americanism.” These words represent a continuing contract of service to America and this commitment by Legionnaires drives the call for action on illegal immigration and other national security concerns facing this country.

From its creation in 1919, The American Legion has been a leader in mentoring candidates for U.S. citizenship. Working closely with the U.S. federal courts, it conducted naturalization schools throughout the country, teaching immigrants how to become proficient in the English language and about U.S. history and government. The Legion helped new citizens become contributing members of American society.

Today, the American public is divided on how to deal with illegal immigration. Solutions come from the far left and the far right — from strict enforcement to general amnesty — from fraternal and religious organizations, immigration reform groups, and government agencies. How to address illegal immigration is driven by economic, national security and humanitarian concerns. Differences are so vast that it is unlikely any congressional immigration reform package will meet with widespread approval from the increasingly frustrated populace.

Recognizing the magnitude of the issue and with the best interests of the country in mind, The American Legion offers its assessment of the situation and a general plan on how to deal with the illegal immigration problems in the United States.
SITUATION ANALYSIS

The security, economy and social fabric of America is seriously threatened by individuals who are illegally in this country. They are undocumented, live in the shadows of society and by failing to assimilate into our culture divide America into ethnic conclaves. The words “undocumented” and “illegal” are synonymous and describe those immigrants who: 1) enter illegally across our nation’s borders; and 2) those who enter legally and illegally overstay their visas.

The number of illegal immigrants currently in the United States is uncertain. Estimates range from between 11.1 million (Pew Hispanic Research Center, 2012), to 12 million (Federation for American Immigration Reform, 2011). It is also not known just who these people are, exactly where they came from or what their intentions might be.

There are many proposals to reform the nation’s immigration laws, ranging from strict enforcement provisions to an across-the-board amnesty. The two sides, however, are miles apart and it is unlikely that any solution will be fully acceptable to all concerned.

The American Legion, a wartime veterans organization of 2.4 million members, supports an immigration policy that eliminates social, economic and population problems resulting from illegal immigration. But above all, the Legion views illegal immigration as a national security issue in its truest sense. It urges Congress to act responsibly in addressing the issue by accepting its responsibility as outlined in the U.S. Constitution. “To provide for the common defense.” More importantly, to provide for the safety of the citizens of this country.

Illegal immigration is a violation of the law. Title 8, Section 1325 of the U.S. Code – Improper Entry by Alien, states:

Any alien who:

1) enters or attempts to enter the United States at any time or place other than as designated by immigration officers; or
2) eludes examination or inspection by immigration officers; or
3) attempts to enter or obtains entry to the United States by a willfully false or misleading representation or the willful concealment of a ma-material fact shall be fined or imprisoned for up to six months. Repeat offenders may be fined or imprisoned for up to two years, or both.

The U.S. Code also addresses those groups and individuals who assist aliens in illegally entering or residing in the United States. Summarizing the law against hiring or harboring illegal aliens, the Federation for American Immigration Reform [FAIR]¹, notes:

A person (including a group of persons, business, organization, or local government) commits a federal felony when he:

- Assists an alien s/he should reasonably know is illegally in the U.S. or who lacks employment authorization, by transporting, sheltering, or assisting him or her to obtain employment, or
- Encourages that alien to remain in the U.S. by referring him or her to an employer or by acting as employer or agent for an employer in any way, or
- Knowingly assists illegal aliens due to personal convictions.

Penalties upon conviction include criminal fines, imprisonment, and forfeiture of vehicles and real property used to commit the crime.

Anyone employing or contracting with an illegal alien without verifying his work authorization status is guilty of a misdemeanor.

The code is clear and to the point. So, what’s the problem? In a word: ENFORCEMENT. It is a law that is on the books, but is not widely imposed.

Illegal immigration is not a victimless crime. The poor, minorities, children and individuals with little education are particularly vulnerable. It causes an enormous drain on public services, depresses wages of American workers, and contributes to population growth that, in turn, contributes to school overcrowding and housing shortages. Directly and indirectly, U.S. taxpayers are paying for illegal immigration.

The costs of illegal immigration in terms of government expenditures for education, criminal justice and medical care are staggering. In California alone illegal immigration is “costing the state’s taxpayers more than $10.5 billion per year,” according to the Federation for American Immigration Reform.² Since states must pay the high cost of providing such services, illegal immigration has become one of the largest “unfunded” federal mandates.
Although many of the largest costs are at the state and local level, there are also significant costs at the federal level. According to a 2010 report by the Federation for Immigration Reform, the combined federal/state outlay for services and benefits provided to illegal aliens totals more than $108 billion annually. Even though federal laws require public assistance agencies to verify that a recipient of services is in this country legally, some agencies fail to verify that eligibility.

Overstays

Legal entry by various modes of travel allows access through seaports, airports and border crossings north and south. In effect, our front door is wide open to the world with entry monitored by government. But the inability of government to oversee the outflow and account for those who remain beyond their allotted time, feeds the growth of the illegal population.

This contributes to a large segment that is often overlooked and under reported within the illegal alien population. With government attention and the media spotlight on our southern border, it would seem that the illegal alien problem is centered there. It isn’t. The illegal population now in the United States is near equally split between those who evaded detection on entry and those who entered legally, but remained long after their legal status expired. They are referred to as “overstays,” and they are then residing in the U.S. illegally.

According to a May 2006 Congressional Research Report [CRS] to Congress, “It is estimated that each year hundreds of thousands of foreign nationals overstay their non-immigrant visas or enter the country illegally (with fraudulent documents or bypassing immigration inspections). The most recent published estimate based upon the March 2005 Supplement of the Current Population Survey (CPS) is that 11.1 million unauthorized aliens were residing in the United States in 2005. Reliable estimates of the number of non-immigrant overstays are not available, and sample estimates range from 31 percent to 57 percent of the unauthorized population (depending on methodology).”

In its May 2006 study “Modes of Entry for the Unauthorized Migrant Population,” the Pew Hispanic Center reported that as much as 45 percent of the 11.5 million to 12 million illegal aliens estimate to be in the United States came legally. The rest, “somewhat more than half” entered illegally.
Crime and Terrorism

Lax enforcement of immigration laws has invited the criminal element to our society. Alien gangs operate in most, if not all, major U.S. cities. Human and drug smuggling operations are numerous along our southern border.

In a 2008 news release the Department of Homeland Security states: “ICE (Immigration and Customs Enforcement) estimates that about 300,000 to 450,000 criminal aliens who are removable are detained each year at federal, state and local prisons and jails.”

The vulnerability of the United States to acts of terrorism because of porous borders and lack of enforcement of immigration laws has most Americans concerned, and rightfully so. Last year, thousands of illegal immigrants were apprehended entering the United States from countries with known terrorist connections. These countries included Afghanistan, Angola, Jordan, Pakistan and Yemen. It was reported by The Christian Science Monitor that 44,000 OTMs (Other Than Mexicans), most of which are from Central America, entered the United States illegally in 2004 alone.

The chaotic situation in Mexico makes lax border enforcement a national security threat. At least two smuggling major rings have been uncovered, which transported Middle Easterners into the United States via Mexico. In 2001, Iraqi-born smuggler George Tajirian pled guilty to forging an alliance with a Mexican immigration officer, Angel Molina Paramo, to smuggling 1,000 Palestinian, Jordanian, Syrian, Iraqi, Yemeni, and other illegals into the country from Mexico. Until his arrest in 2002, Salim Boughader Mucharrafille, who ran a café in Tijuana, Mexico, also smuggled Lebanese illegal immigrants into the United States.

In 2005, former U.S. Rep. Silvestre Reyes of Texas said in a news release issued from his office, “This year alone, more than 75,000 immigrants from countries other than Mexico have illegally crossed the U.S.-Mexico border, with approximately 36,500 crossing in the Border Patrol’s Rio Grande sector. This is a 226 percent increase from the same time period in 2004.”

The American Legion strongly supports the enforcement of immigration laws by law enforcement agencies at all levels (Res 19, National Executive Committee Aug 2012, “Immigration Reform to Enhance National Security”). Section 287(g) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) was made law in 1996 as a result of the Illegal Immigrant Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act. Section 287(g) authorizes the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security to enter into agreements with state and local law enforcement agencies, permitting designated officers to perform immigration law enforcement functions. Under 287(g), ICE provides state and local law enforcement with the training and subsequent authorization to identify, process, and, when appropriate, detain immigration offenders they encounter during their regular, daily law-enforcement activity.

Education

The Center for Immigration Studies (CIS) analysis of the March 2010-11 Current Population Survey (CPS) estimated the population of school-age illegal aliens between the ages of five to 17 residing in the United States to be 1.3 million. The CPS also estimated the total number of school-age illegal aliens plus U.S.-born school-age children of illegal aliens in the country to be 3.9 million of the total school-age population. The CIS report points out that because per-student expenditures in the United States are about $10,000 a year, the costs of educating illegal alien children is roughly $13 billion annually. If the U.S.-born children are also counted, the costs likely exceed $39 billion each year.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in Plyler v. Doe in 1982 that illegal alien students are entitled to enroll in U.S. public schools at taxpayer expense. The ruling was made prior to the 1986 amnesty and it was believed at the time that the illegal alien students would be amnestied as a result of that program. Also, the number of these students was small enough at that time that it would not create a significant hardship on the United States taxpayers.

The court noted in the decision that the “Congress could reverse the decision if the illegal alien students prove to be a financial hardship to the taxpayers and if the students who are legally residing in the United States begin to have their own education negatively impacted by the presence of the illegal alien students. Both of these conditions apply today…”

The impact of illegal immigration on education extends beyond the secondary school level. Several states, including California, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, Utah and New York, have passed laws granting in-state tuition rates for illegal aliens, an action in direct defiance of federal laws. Title 8, Chapter 14, Sec. 1623 states: “An alien who is not lawfully present in the United States shall not be eligible on the basis of residence within a state … for any postsecondary education benefit unless a citizen or national of the United States is eligible for such a benefit.”
The Colorado Alliance for Immigration Reform (CAIR) describes in-state tuition for illegals as “an amnesty disguised as an educational initiative.” The American Legion agrees.

Employment and Wages

Proponents of open borders and guest worker amnesty programs say illegal immigrants take jobs that Americans won’t do. Such statements are demeaning to the general population of this country and especially demeaning to immigrants who enter this country legally, stereotyping them as a lower class of people. What proponents of open borders fail to add is that they take the jobs that Americans can no longer afford to do because of illegal immigration.

The numbers tell the story. As employers exploit cheap labor to increase profits, illegals cost Americans jobs. That, combined with the increase of illegal immigrants living below the poverty line, shrinks the U.S. middle class and weakens the nation’s economic security.

American Legion Resolution 268, 94th National Convention, Indianapolis, Indiana, “Strategy to Address Social, Economic and Population Problems Related to Illegal Immigration” urged the federal government to hold accountable employers who knowingly hire illegal workers, especially those aliens showing suspected fraudulent documents, thus suggesting the possibility that identity theft may have occurred. It also put The American Legion on record as adamantly opposed to any legislative bill that grants amnesty or forgiveness to the employers of illegal aliens.
THE AMERICAN LEGION’S PROPOSAL FOR U.S. IMMIGRATION REFORM

STEP ONE: SECURE THE BORDER POINTS OF ENTRY

There can be no effective immigration reform without first securing the borders and the coastline boundaries to this country. When the United States shows it has control of its borders, then and only then should Congress consider guest worker or temporary worker initiatives.

Securing the borders and coastlines will require additional frontline Border Patrol agents, the newest surveillance technology, fences or barriers in some locations, support from U.S. military units and a commitment of cooperation from federal, state and local governments. A plan, including legislation for implementation, will not work if there is no funding or enforcement. That was a painful lesson learned from the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 (IRCA) amnesty when legalization occurred without securing the borders. The result was a stampede of illegals across borders to take advantage of the government’s benevolence.

U.S. Border Patrol agents during a five-month period in 2005 and 2006 detained 46,058 non-Mexican migrants along the U.S.-Mexico border, up 12 percent from the 40,953 caught during the same period the previous year.

According to a Department of Homeland Security report published in 2010, after Mexico the next leading source of countries for unauthorized immigrants in the United States in 2009 included El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and the Philippines. Between 2000 and 2009, the unauthorized immigrant population from El Salvador increased 25 percent; Guatemala 65 percent; Honduras 95 percent; and Philippines 33 percent.

The American Legion proposes to Congress that it take the following actions to secure the borders:

- Hire and train a sufficient number of U.S. Border Patrol agents to meet assigned objectives. It is The American Legion position that employment preference be afforded former members of the U.S. Armed Forces.
- Acquire and utilize the latest technology to monitor border activity and search cargo containers, both on the borders and through our nation’s seaports.
- Employ U.S. military resources along the borders, whereby units can train in a real world scenario, in support of the U.S. Border Patrol and local law enforcement agencies. Department of Defense surveillance equipment should be authorized for use in border security operations.

- Construct physical barriers in certain locales along the borders to impede easy access to the U.S. It may not be feasible to build a physical barrier the entire length of the southern border with Mexico, but barriers are recommended for certain high traffic areas of the border country.

- Authorize and encourage law enforcement agencies at all levels to cooperate by entering and sharing database information on individuals who are thought to be a threat to our nation’s security. Additionally, such agencies should be further authorized and encouraged to arrest and detain individuals, including illegal aliens, who are suspected of violating the immigration laws of the United States.

STEP TWO: ELIMINATE THE JOBS MAGNET AND TAXPAYER SPONSORED SOCIAL SERVICES BENEFITS FOR ILLEGAL ALIENS

The second step in immigration reform is the elimination or reduction of employment opportunities in this country for illegal immigrants. If the number of available jobs were reduced, there would be less incentive for illegals to enter or remain in this country. There are native workers available for jobs currently being held by the illegal workforce, if they were given a decent wage.

The American Legion supports mandatory eligibility verification of all employees. It calls upon the federal government to require the Department of Homeland Security and the Social Security Administration to develop a system providing electronic verification of work eligibility and an annual re-verification of aliens.

Employer sanctions put into place following the 1986 amnesty programs were not enforced, a principal reason for the current immigration crisis. The American Legion supports enforcement of immigrant hiring laws and advocates significant civil penalties for employers who knowingly hire illegal workers. The law is clear on the subject.

In simple language, it is unlawful to hire, recruit or refer an alien knowing the alien is not authorized to work in the United States. It is also unlawful to continue to employ an alien if it is known by the employer that the alien is not authorized to work.

It is also illegal for nonprofit or religious organizations to knowingly assist an employer to violate employment sanctions, regardless of any claims that “their convictions” require them to assist aliens. Harboring or aiding illegal aliens is not protected by the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

The American Legion has long held the position that all legal aliens should be required to carry U.S. government issued identification documents that are made as secure as technology allows and that are verifiable by any employer or benefit agency through an easy-to-access central database. Other positions include restricting the eligibility of illegal aliens for certain forms of publicly funded assistance and educational benefits.

STEP THREE: NO AMNESTY FOR ILLEGAL ALIENS

The American Legion is opposed to any policy that would give illegal immigrants legal permission to remain in the United States, whether such a policy is referred to as “legalization,” “regularization,” “earned status adjustment” or “earned access.”

The United States for over 200 years only granted amnesty in individual cases and did not give a blanket amnesty to large numbers of aliens until 1986. That was the year Congress passed the Immigration Reform and Control Act (IRCA) that legalized all illegal aliens who met certain criteria, resulting in 2.8 million illegal aliens being admitted as legal immigrants. It was supposed to be a one time only amnesty but six more followed:

1. Section 245(i) The Amnesty of 1994 – A temporary rolling amnesty for 578,000 illegal aliens.
3. Nicaraguan Adjustment and Central American Relief Act (NASCARA) Amnesty of 1997 – An amnesty for close to one million illegal aliens from Central America.
4. Haitian Refugee Immigration Fairness Act Amnesty (HRIFA) of 1998 An amnesty for 125,000 illegal aliens from Haiti.

5. Late Amnesty of 2000 – An amnesty for illegal aliens who claim they should have been amnestied under the 1986 IRCA amnesty, an estimated 400,000 illegal aliens.

6. Life Amnesty of 2000 – A reinstatement of the rolling Section 245(i) amnesty that legalized an estimated 900,000 illegal aliens.

The total net cost of the 1986 IRCA amnesty was more than $78 billion in the 10 years following the amnesty, according to a study released by the Center for Immigration Studies. Today, more amnesty programs are being considered, even though it has been proved that they do not work.

Vernon Briggs, a Cornell University labor and economics professor stated: “The toleration of illegal immigration undermines all of our labor; it rips at the social fabric. It’s a race to the bottom. The one who plays by the rules is penalized … a guest worker program guarantees wages will never go up and there is no way American citizens can compete with guest workers.”

The American Legion is not opposed to the legal temporary workers programs when administered with established numerical limits so as to prevent labor market distortions. Application for such programs must originate from the worker’s home country and only after a criminal background check has been conducted.

STEP FOUR: REDUCE THE ILLEGAL POPULATION IN THE UNITED STATES BY A PROGRAM OF ATTRITION THROUGH ENFORCEMENT

More than eleven million individuals are currently in this country illegally. No one knows for sure the exact number, but it is safe to say that the majority of these individuals are both welcomed and scorned by the country’s legal population. These illegals live on the fringe of our society on one hand adding strength to some segments of our economy, while on the other hand drawing from our public assistance pool at the expense of American workers.

No one can dispute the need to reduce and control the illegal population in the United States. Some wish to deal with the problem by simply granting amnesty and providing an avenue toward citizenship. Others - including the American Legion - seek to address the problem by reducing the number of illegals in this country through the enforcement of existing and new immigration laws.

The American Legion recognizes that mass deportation of all illegals is not a realistic option. Deportation of select groups is an option and one that should be used. The continuing threat of deportation and possible incarceration would serve as a deterrent to many who may be considering entering the United States illegally.

The American Legion endorses the plan to reduce the illegal population as outlined in a paper titled “Attrition Through Enforcement – A Cost-Effecttive Strategy to Shrink the Illegal Population” that was written by Jessica
M. Vaughan, Director of Policy Studies for the Center for Immigration Studies (CIS). The plan calls for a strategy of attrition through enforcement of new and existing laws in combination with increased border security efforts. The American Legion reiterated its support for Vaughan’s plan as part of its strategy for reform of U.S. immigration policy when delegates to the Legion’s 2012 National Convention assembled in Indianapolis, passed Resolution 268, “Strategy to Address Social, Economic and Population Problems Related to Illegal Immigration.”

The resolution calls upon The American Legion to work with CIS to obtain congressional approval and national acceptance of a plan that includes the following objectives:

- Mandatory workplace verification of immigration status
- Measures to curb misuse of Social Security numbers and IRS identification numbers
- Cooperation among federal, state and local law enforcement officials
- Increased screening of foreign visitors
- Increased noncriminal removals through increased interior enforcement
- Discourage illegal settlement by adopting additional state and local legislation

Included in the CIS plan were the following findings, several of which echo previous positions of The American Legion.

- A strategy of attrition through enforcement could reduce the illegal population by as many as 1.5 million illegal aliens each year. Currently, only about 183,000 illegal aliens per year depart without the intervention of immigration officials, according to Department of Homeland Security statistics.

- Voluntary compliance works faster and is cheaper than a borders-only approach to immigration law enforcement. For example, under the controversial National Security Entry Exit Registration System (NSEERS) program launched after Sept. 11, 2001, the Department of Homeland Security removed about 1,500 illegal Pakistanis; over the same time period, in response to the registration requirements, about 15,000 illegal Pakistani immigrants left the country on their own.

- Requiring employers to verify the status of workers could deny jobs to about three million illegal workers in three years, affecting at least one-third of the illegal population. 9

- The Internal Revenue Service knows the name, address, and place of employment of millions of illegal aliens, and issues hundreds of millions of dollars in tax refunds and tax credits to illegal aliens. Changing the laws to provide for information-sharing would help boost immigration law enforcement at minimal cost.

- United States Visitor and Immigrant Status Indicator Technology (US-VISIT) is a critical tool in curbing illegal immigration. Screening must be expanded to include Mexicans and Canadians, and DHS must move forward to deploy an exit-recording system. These steps should be a prerequisite to adding or expanding any visa program. (American Legion Res. 21, “Illegal Immigration Policy.” 2012 National Convention.

- Less than 10 percent of Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) investigative resources are devoted to fraud, workplace violations and overstayers. 12

- Laws enacted by the state governments of Florida and New York to prevent illegal immigrants from obtaining driver’s licenses have induced more illegal aliens to leave than have federal enforcement efforts against certain illegal populations in those states, and have come at virtually no cost to the federal government.

The elimination of the reasons for remaining in the United States could be the most obvious, effective and best long-term solution to the illegal population problem in the United States. Actions supported by American Legion resolutions include: 1) Eliminate employment opportunities; 2) Restrict eligibility for publicly funded assistance; 3) Stop awarding financial aid benefits to illegal alien students; 4) Empower law enforcement at all levels to enforce immigration laws; 5) Seek diplomatic solutions through relations with foreign governments; 6) Do not issue driver’s licenses to illegal aliens; and 7) Designate English as the official language of the U.S. government and print all documents, including election ballots, in the English language.

STEP FIVE: EFFECTIVELY SCREEN AND TRACK ALL FOREIGN VISITORS

Much of the illegal population in the United States entered the country by legal means and then overstayed their visas or other entrance documents. Such was the case of several of the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorists entered the country via legal means, and then dropped out of the government’s sight until they flew airplanes into the World Trade Center, the Pentagon and into a Pennsylvania farm field, killing almost 3,000 people.

Historically, it has, for the most part, been those who have exploited weaknesses in this country’s legal immigration system that have committed acts of terrorism in the United States. They include several individuals involved in the first World Trade Center attack, conspirators in plots to bomb the New York subway system and the plot to destroy New York City landmarks.

The American Legion supports comprehensive screening and background checks on all foreign visitors and a means to track their whereabouts and monitor their intentions while physically in the United States. Releasing them in our society, as has been the practice, is not in the best interest of America’s national security.

In 2012, delegates to The American Legion’s National Convention in Indianapolis, approved Resolution 268 to urge the Congress of the United States to reform the non-immigrant visa program to establish numerical limits in all categories, especially for temporary workers. Non-immigrant visas (NIV) are issued to foreign nationals who come to the United States for a specific period of time for reasons that include study, employment and tourism.

Non-immigrant visas are issued by the State Department. Visitors from 27 countries can enter the U.S. on a “visa waiver,” meaning their entry into the country does not require an application. That alone is reason to question the NIV program, especially because of the thousands who annually exceed their authorized time in the United States and remain here as illegal immigrants.

The Diversity Visa Lottery is a program that should be eliminated, especially at this time when the country is challenged with increasing illegal population and with the threat of terrorism. The program issues 55,000 immigrant visas each year to people who supposedly come from countries with low rates of immigration to the United States. A computer randomly selects winners from the list of applicants. Winners are able to file for permanent residency and can bring a spouse and unmarried children under the age of 21.

Citizenship, permanent residency or just admittance into the United States should not be decided by the “luck of the draw.”

The Department of State should complete a thorough background check and, prior to issuing a visa, interview each candidate seeking admittance into the United States. It should also be the Department of State’s responsibility to track and, if necessary, arrange for the apprehension of visa recipients who perpetrate fraud and/or overstay their visa. It would be the responsibility of the Department of Homeland Security to then initiate removal/deportation processing.
CONCLUSION

The American Legion has long opposed any great influx of immigrants but, instead, has encouraged a path of moderation, embracing a concept that immigration should be regulated so that immigrants could be readily absorbed into the general population. Assimilation was important to both the government and The American Legion in the 1920s and 30s but it lost some of its luster in recent years as America directed its attention to the illegal immigrant population and homeland security issues.

Assimilation into our society by new citizens remains important to the welfare of the United States. The failure of this country to absorb new immigrants into its society divides the nation and promotes racial and cultural bias. Immigration into the United States should be based on a commitment by the United States to treat new immigrants with respect and provide them with the rights and privileges guaranteed all citizens by rule of law. The immigrants must pledge their loyalty and allegiance to the United States and that allegiance must take precedence over and above any ties they may have with their native country.

Candidates for citizenship express that allegiance in a naturalization ceremony when they are asked to take an oath – An Oath of Renunciation and Allegiance. That oath has elements that are important to The American Legion and were outlined in Resolution 277, “Oath of Renunciation and Allegiance,” passed by delegates to the 94th National Convention of The American Legion in 2012 in Indianapolis. Those elements are:

- Renunciation of all allegiances to foreign states or sovereignties
- Support for and defense of the U.S. Constitution and laws of the United States of America against all enemies, foreign and domestic
- Bear ‘true faith and allegiance’ to the United States of America
- Bear arms, perform noncombatant service, or perform work of national importance on behalf of the United States of America
- Take the oath without mental reservation or purpose of evasion

The American Legion believes strongly in maintaining the sanctity of the oath and supports language in the oath that is prescribed by the Congress of the United States for purposes as outlined in the Immigration and Nationality Act. The Legion also calls upon Congress to reject dual allegiance in principle and restrict and narrow its application in practice.
The American Legion is not specifically opposed to guest worker programs that are intended to fill labor shortages in the United States. Such programs, however, must not reward illegal immigrants with an amnesty or forgiveness for previous unlawful behavior.

There can be no homeland security until the United States takes control of its borders. There can be no fair labor practices with a workforce composed of illegal workers. As a nation of laws, the United States sends a wrong message by forgiving and rewarding those who break our laws by invading our sovereign nation. America cannot be secure when 10 million to 20 million individuals whom we don’t know are in this country illegally.

There is no simple solution to this complex challenge. Contrary to what some of our leaders may believe, we must put our own citizens first. Today, Americans are paying a huge price for the federal government’s benevolence and open door policies. It’s reflected in schools, in taxes, at the workplace, and in Americans’ personal and national feeling of security.

Solving the illegal population problem in this country will require strengthening the U.S. societal infrastructure. Incentives should be provided for students to pursue high-tech professions to reduce the outsourcing of American jobs. The United States should pursue diplomatic solutions with foreign countries that encourage illegal entry into the United States. We should seek English language initiatives and promote good citizenship through naturalization classes for legal immigrants.

President Theodore Roosevelt expressed his ideas on immigrants and what it means to be an American in a speech in 1907.

“In the first place, we should insist that if the immigrant who comes here in good faith becomes an American and assimilates himself to us, he shall be treated on an exact equality with everyone else for it is an outrage to discriminate against any such man because of creed, or birthplace, or origin. But this is predicated upon the person becoming in every facet an American and nothing but an American … There can be no divided allegiance here. Any man who says he is an American, but something else also, isn’t an American at all. We have room for but one flag, the American flag … We have room for but one language here, and that is the English language … and we have room for but one sole loyalty and that is a loyalty to the American people.”

More than one hundred years ago … and the words of Teddy Roosevelt are still appropriate today. Let us not forget them.

APPENDIX B

THE AMERICAN LEGION AND ILLEGAL IMMIGRATION
MESSAGE POINTS

Why is The American Legion involved with the illegal immigration issue?
Many of our members are concerned that our country is self-destructing because of the perceived ambivalence of our federal government on the issue. From an organization standpoint, the Legion has called for quotas on legal immigration dating back to the very beginning of our organization. Obviously, with this mind-set it makes no sense to limit legal immigration, but leave the back door open for individuals to enter this country illegally.

But, aren’t you a veterans organization? What’s that got to do with illegal immigration?
American Legion members have served in the U.S. Armed Forces around the world so that Americans can be safe at home. The sacrifices they have made give them a perspective on national security issues that many Americans do not have. They have seen Third World countries. They have seen poverty, political instability, disease and war. Now, they see these dangers on our back doorstep in our porous borders and our country’s lack of enforcement of immigration laws.

What’s wrong with accepting illegal immigrants? Aren’t they only taking jobs that Americans won’t do?
The United States is a country of laws that establish our standards of behavior. These individuals broke our immigration laws and are trespassing on our sovereign soil. They are mostly unskilled workers with little formal education. By taking low paying jobs, they effectively hold down wages of low skilled and middle class Americans. If they were not here, our economy would adjust and more Americans would be working.

Why is The American Legion opposed to making the illegals legal? Won’t that solve the problem?

Rewarding criminal behavior is not in the best interest of this country. It is amnesty plain and simple, and The American Legion is adamantly opposed to blanket policies of forgiveness that would pardon millions who have entered the United States illegally. Granting amnesty to illegals will ultimately result in granting admittance into this country to the amnestied individual’s family members. Our country cannot absorb this number of low skilled immigrants without feeling the effects in the drain on our public services, education, health care and personal security.

Why not grant a one-time amnesty to the illegal population currently in the United States?

History has proved that amnesty programs do not work. The United States, for more than 200 years, only granted amnesty in individual cases and did not give a blanket amnesty to large numbers until 1986 when it passed the Immigration Reform and Control Act (IRCA) that legalized 2.8 million people. It was supposed to be a one-time only amnesty, but six more followed. The total cost of the 1986 IRCA amnesty was more than $78 billion in the ten years following the amnesty. Amnesty programs promote more illegal immigration.

Does The American Legion have a solution to the illegal immigration issue?

Yes, but no effective immigration reform can occur without first securing our borders. Once that is done, the second step would be to eliminate the jobs magnet. Without going into specifics, the Legion’s plan calls for removing the incentives for the individual to remain in this country. That could include workplace verification of immigration status, cooperation between federal, state and local law enforcement, increased screening of foreign visitors, non-criminal removals through increased interior enforcement and by discouraging illegal settlement by adopting additional state and local legislation.

Is the American legion in favor of building a physical barrier along our southern border?

The American Legion does urge Congress to construct physical barriers, as appropriate, in order to “secure the borders and other points of entry into the United States” against those individuals attempting to enter illegally. Legion positions also state that “all of the resources of the United States of America should be utilized to enforce the security of our country’s borders.”

Should military resources be used to secure our borders?
The U.S. Border Patrol is tasked with that responsibility, but they are often understaffed and lack the firepower when confronted with the drug gangs and smugglers operating along our southern border. The American Legion has held the position for several years that, where appropriate, military resources should be employed to assist in stopping the flow of illegal aliens into this country. Our troops are being called upon to guard the borders of other countries, it seems only appropriate that they be available for our own border security.

Does the American Legion support citizen watch groups like the Minutemen?
As an organization, it does not. It is the responsibility of our government to protect us from invasion. If the government fails to do that, then it must be held accountable. That can be done at the ballot box. Many of our members are sympathetic to groups like the Minutemen who have brought attention to the issue of illegal immigration. But it is not our policy – as an organization -- to endorse other organizations.

Who should enforce our immigration laws? the Feds? State or local law enforcement?
The American Legion believes it should be all three. Its position is “… that this country’s law enforcement agencies at the local, state and federal levels be empowered with the authority to apprehend and incarcerate individuals who are in this country illegally.” If this was the case several years ago, there may have been no September 11, 2001, attack as several of the terrorists had been stopped by local authorities while in this country illegally for minor traffic violations prior to the attack.

What should be done about those who give aid and sanctuary to individuals in this country illegally?
That is up to our government and not The American Legion. These groups, whether they are driven by humanitarian reasons, economic reasons or for any other reasons are treading on dangerous ground when they provide sanctuary to illegals. It should be the responsibility of our government and, more specifically, our court system to decide how to deal with them.
Has The American Legion always been opposed to immigration?
The American Legion is NOT opposed to legal immigration. It is adamantly opposed to illegal entry and it is opposed to lax enforcement of immigration laws that allow individuals, who may have entered this country legally but overstayed their visa, to remain in this country. The American Legion has long opposed any great influx of immigrants but, rather, has encouraged a path of moderation, embracing a concept that immigration should be regulated so that immigrants can be readily absorbed into the general population.

Several states have passed laws authorizing illegal aliens to attend colleges and universities in their state by paying “in-state” tuition rates. What’s The American Legion’s position on this?
The American Legion opposes any legislation or executive order that would allow illegal aliens and others who are in this country illegally to receive in-state tuition rates, government education grants and/or financial assistance to attend a college or university in the United States. Title 8, Chapter 14, Sec. 1623 states: “An alien who is not lawfully present in the United States shall not be eligible on the basis of residence within a State … for any postsecondary education benefit unless a citizen or national of the United States is eligible for such a benefit.” Unfortunately, some states have chosen to ignore the federal statute.

How does The American Legion plan to change current policy concerning illegal immigration?
American Legion National Convention delegates in August 2008, September 2010 and again in August 2012 voted to seize every opportunity to request an accountability of our elected officials in implementing and enforcing federal and international laws and treaties to stop the flood of illegal aliens across our borders. The convention delegates also called on all candidates seeking public office and the two major political parties to express publicly to the American people their positions and solutions to the problems of illegal immigration.
